Individual Development Plan for Postdoctoral Scholars

Adapted and used with permission from the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB)'s Science Policy Committee

Individual Development Plans (IDPs) for postdoctoral scholars provide a planning process that identifies both professional development needs and career objectives for the individual postdoc. Furthermore, IDPs serve as a communication tool between postdoctoral scholars and their mentors. An IDP can be considered one component of a broader mentoring program that needs to be instituted by all types of research institutions.

Goals of the IDP:
Help the postdoctoral scholar identify:
- Long-term career options he or she wishes to pursue and the necessary tools to meet these; and
- Short-term needs for improving current performance.

Benefits of the IDP:
The IDP provides postdoctoral scholars with a process that assists in developing long-term goals. Identifying short-term goals will give postdocs a clearer sense of expectations and help identify milestones along the way to achieving specific objectives. The IDP also serves as a tool for communication between the postdoctoral scholar and his or her faculty mentor/supervisor/PI.

Outline of IDP Process:
The development, implementation and revision of the IDP require a series of steps to be conducted by the postdoctoral scholar and her or his mentor. These steps are an interactive effort, so both the postdoc and the mentor must participate fully in the process.
